Here in West Michigan, each of our four seasons is spectacular for a variety of reasons, but autumn may be the most beautiful. The Ludington area is aglow in a display of brilliant gold, orange, and red. An October afternoon drive along our country roads brings you face-to-face with nature's magnificence.

The tastes of the season are abundant at local Oktoberfest celebrations, harvest festivals, and street festivals. Warm cider, sweet doughnuts, and fresh, crunchy apples fill your senses with fall's goodness. Now is the time to take a hayride, hike in the Ludington State Park, or visit the local pumpkin patch. The fall salmon run at the Hamlin Lake Dam is especially exciting during this season.

It's a glorious time of year, and the crisp air beckons you outside to enjoy it. Come experience the slower pace of Ludington in the fall—a great place to be. ☀️
